Ranger American Chooses Honeywell as its Partner of Choice in Houston, Texas

A leader in the Houston new home construction market, Ranger American's mission is to provide high-quality technology products to homebuilders and homeowners. This security company has been in Houston since 1989 and offers a variety of services that enhance the living experience. From lighting controls to intercoms and touchscreen interfaces, Ranger is always looking for ways to give their builders a competitive edge. That's the reason they trust Honeywell. Ranger knows they can depend on Honeywell products and by standardizing on one full product line, installation time is significantly faster. Offering a complete Honeywell solution helps their builders enhance profits and sell more homes, letting Ranger keep more homeowners safe and secure.
